Councillor in hot water over service delivery

Amidst a strong police contingent, a mass meeting in Bayview almost came to blows after disgruntled protesters accused a local councillor of 'dragging his feet' and lying to them over service delivery issues within ward 69. The Democratic Alliance's Cllr Ganas Govender had to be escorted home by police on Wednesday night after he addressed angry Bayview residents at the Bayview Community Hall following a two-day protest on Lenny Naidu Drive. Hundreds of angry residents marched to the councillor's house in Floss Street on Monday and Tuesday and demanded that he address them, however, he was not home during both marches.

Station commander of the Bayview SAPS, Col Rajesh Balram, who was present throughout the two-day protest, was also present at the meeting and assisted residents by handing over their memorandum to Cllr Govender on Wednesday morning.

Speaking at the meeting on behalf of the flat dwellers and youth, 27-year-old Fana Gumede explained what sparked the protests and marches.

"Cllr Govender was elected nine months ago and to date, he did not address the people and explain to them his plan of action with regards to various issues and predicaments that the residents face. After numerous attempts to engage with him, they took to the streets to demand that their voices are heard. It is sad that the people of this community had to demonstrate for him to come out and address them," he said.

While residents were pleased that Cllr Govender held the meeting to address their issues, their anger resurfaced after he did not provide adequate answers to their questions. Local community activists, including Devan Pillay and Gumede, stepped in to pacify the angry crowd and delegated with the irate residents. Cllr Govender was given seven working days to finalise his answers and come back to them.

"Cllr Govender also lied to residents about a certain handover of books, which he was supposed to receive from the previous ward 69 councillor, however, it has come to the attention of residents that this was a lie as there is no protocol of handing over of books which can halt or delay service delivery and community projects. We appeal to community leaders to not politicize service delivery and come together as one so they can serve the people to the best of their ability. By personalising politics, the people will suffer," concluded Gumede.

When approached for a comment regarding the rage he was met with during the meeting and protests, Cllr Govender, who was elected in August 2016, said that although he did not achieve what he aimed to at the meeting, he felt that this was a starting point in terms of engagement with residents. "Ward 69 constitutes of about 41, 000 residents. All the issues have been here for years and although people feel they voted for change, we cannot do it in a short space of time. There has to

One of the irate residents who protested over the lack of service delivery.

Chatsworth Hospice pays tribute to community stalwarts

The Chatsworth Regional Hospice Association was formerly established at a meeting held at the RK Khan Hospital in January 26, 1991. Today, the organisation stands as a beacon of hope and strength for terminally ill patients.

Last week, the organisation recognised four outstanding individuals in the community of Durban who have made an enormous, invaluable and meritorious contribution to the Chatsworth Hospice at a glittering function at the hospice in Silverglen. The first individual to be honoured was distinguished and seasoned medical doctor, visionary and community leader, Coomasamy Nithianathan Pillay. He is the honorary life president of the Chatsworth Hospice. He has already received more than a dozen accolades to his name, among them, the Dhanwantari Award from the Ramakrishna Centre of South Africa, Chatsworth Rotary Club Vocational Award in 2000, the Nataraja Award from the Indian Academy of South Africa and the Distinguished Service Award from the Association of Surgeons of South Africa in August 2007. This iconic community stalwart and community giant started off his medical career as an intern at McCords Hospital in 1954.

He then worked as general practitioner in Avoca/Newlands and later in Harding. He returned to McCord Hospital and served as a Surgical Registrar for one year. In 1961, he was appointed to the Department of Surgery at King Edward VII Hospital. In 1967, he obtained the fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh in June. He was then appointed surgeon and lecturer at the University of Natal Medical School in November 1967. He was then transferred to RK Khan Hospital as a senior specialist and head of the department of surgery. He was then promoted to principal surgeon of the same hospital. He retired from the provincial hospital service in April 1992. Another distinguished individual is Dr PK Naidoo, who was born in 1938. He is the son of a farmer who lived in Shallcross. As it was normal in those days, families were large with many siblings and cousins. As the children grew up, a growing concern within the family was that there was no school in the vicinity. This is what prompted the family to move to Escombe. The nearest school was Malvern State Aided school. Naidoo started school when he was eight. Going to school entailed traveling 6kms each way on foot. When he completed his primary education, he moved to Sastri College where he matriculated. In order to further his education, he applied for a Commonwealth Scholarship. This took more than a year to finalise and in the interim, he worked on the farm with his father. Once he secured the scholarship, he proceeded to the University of Bombay and enrolled for a BSC degree because the matric pass did not include the science subjects needed for admission to a medical university. He eventually qualified as a doctor, returned to South Africa in 1969 and started work at King Edward. He eventually retired as chief superintendent at RK Khan. He is a man of strong principles, deep integrity, unassuming yet a fountain of wisdom. The hospice recognises his influence in shaping and the development of this hospice since its inception. Another community stalwart who lives a life of loving service not only to his immediate family but the community is Mr R Mannadiar. His father was an indentured labourer from India. The family settled in Port Shepstone in 1931 and Mr Mannadiar, fondly known as Harry Mannadiar, completed his primary school education. What is admirable and commendable about him is that his secondary school education and tertiary education was completed through correspondence courses. He was the first Indian in South Africa to major in Public Administration and Economics. He progressed from a domestic employee grade three to the post of Deputy Director Administration in 42 years of civil service including occupying the post as Assistant

The organisation applauds him as a founding father of the Chatsworth Hospice.

Mr BA Naidoo was also recognised posthumously for his contribution. His daughter received the accolade on his behalf.

Dr Ramasar paid a glowing tribute to the late Naidoo, one of the founding fathers and member of the Chatsworth Hospice. The late Mr Bungaree Appana Naidoo was born in May 1922 in a family of humble circumstances in the Stella Hill/Fennis-cowles community. His early childhood was punctuated with difficulties that forced him into the open labour market at an early age. After completing standard six, he did a year's teaching course and completed his matric while working. Largely a self educated man, Naidoo preserved in the face of hardships and studied part time through UNISA obtaining a BA degree in 1945, while he was a teacher in the employment of the then Natal Education Department. Thereafter, Mr Naidoo studied through the Natal University College in the so-called European Section situated behind Sastri College towards a Bachelor of Social Science degree. He qualified and graduated as the first professional Indian Social worker in South Africa in 1949. Until then, Naidoo was a teacher at infant primary junior and high school levels. At the end of 1949, Naidoo resigned from teaching and accepted appointment as a professional social worker at the then Durban Indian Child Welfare Society where he served between January 1950 and December 1962. Naidoo has amongst others, served on the Centenary Bursaries Trust, the Chatsworth Early Learning Trust, The Umhlatuzana Ratepayers Association, the RK Khan Hospital Advisory Board and the Society for Social Workers. Among his numerous community activities in the welfare, health and other socio-political economic fields. He was also the founder member of the Chatsworth Regional Hospice Association in which he played no small role.

President of the Chatsworth Hospice, Kogie Singh said, "Our hospice is blessed to have had men of such vision and dedication. I must also pay homage to the senior nurses of R K Khans under the leadership of Matron CD Pillay, for the selfless, devoted service to our patients laid the foundation for our service."

Registrar at the ML Sultan-Technical College. He was also the first Indian deputy director in the Natal Provincial Administration. He served the Hospice with distinction holding various positions including treasurer, vice president, manager and director. He held some of these positions whilst he was still in full time employment.

be education and understanding on how the municipality works and the role of a councillor. We represent the eThekweni Municipality within a ward and our role is to mediate between the community and the municipality, to hear the concerns of the people and pass it on to the relevant department officials to institute action," added Cllr Ganas. He also explained that he felt the expectations from the community are not only high but demanding. "We are human beings and we should be treated with respect and dignity. My life was threatened during the protest, and while the residents have a right to demonstrate, the riot was escalated to an extent where they threatened the lives of my family and damaged my property. A huge fire was lit outside my home and my family is traumatised after the protesters sang about killing me so that they can have a bi-election," he said.

Meanwhile, Col Bal-

ram appeals to residents to try to resolve their matters in an amicable manner. "While demonstrations and protests are one's constitutional right, we urge residents to do so within the framework of the law," he said. Updates on the next meeting will be published once a date has been finalised.

Jaws of Life used to free entrapped driver in collision

One person was left entrapped and five others injured after a taxi and a car collided at the intersection of the Hans Dettman Highway and Newton Road in Shallcross, last Wednesday. Rescue Care paramedics responded to the scene and upon arrival, found that the driver of the taxi was entrapped in his vehicle. Five other people had sustained injuries. The Durban Fire Department had to use the Jaws of Life and other hydraulic equipment to cut the entrapped patient free, while Advanced Life Support paramedics worked to stabilise him. The remaining patients sustained minor to moderate injuries. They were all treated and stabilised at the scene before being transported to various Durban hospitals for the further care that they required. At this stage, the exact cause of the collision is unknown, however the police were at scene and will be investigating further.

Double celebration for Arena Park sisters

Two beautiful and brilliant Arena Park sisters proved that dreams can be turned into reality after they both graduated from the University of Nivarya and Nerissa Naidoo have done their family and friends extremely proud.

KwaZulu-Natal at the Westville Campus, recently.

The young intellectuals were thrilled to share their special day with each other and their family and friends. Dr Nerissa Naidoo (26) proudly graduated with a Doctoral Degree in Health Sciences - Anatomy and is now the Assistant Professor of Anatomy at a university in Dubai. Dr Naidoo's PhD thesis was based upon a clinico-anatomical investigation of the intrinsic and extrinsic factors of the shoulder region within the South African and Belgian population groups. With over 15 published articles and 25 conference presentations at both national and international platforms, the young woman has always dreamt of being a member of the medical fraternity.

Meanwhile, 23-year-old Nivarya Naidoo graduated with her Honours Degree in Biological Sciences and is currently studying towards her Masters in Environmental Sciences. The passionate woman has always been very fond of animals and nature and was thrilled when she completed her Bachelor's Degree in Environmental Science at the end of year 2015. She is presently assessing the functional and ecological properties of a series of 12 wetlands in the Dundee region.

The dynamic duo feels that their journey into academia has just begun and attributed their success to consistency and commitment which they have shown.

Roxy was adopted by a new family in October, last year.

Chatsworth woman fined R30,000 for ill-treating dogs

A Chatsworth woman was fined R30,000 or one year in prison, suspended for five years provided she is not found guilty of a similar offence, for ill-treating three of her pet dogs, recently. She appeared in the Chatsworth Magistrate's Court. In addition to this, the woman is prohibited from owning any animal for the next five years. One of the dogs was rescued from the woman's home, last year. According to marketing manager of the Durban and Coast SPCA, Lindsey Conner, this is the largest fine (to date) secured by the SPCA, in partnership with local police and officers of the court.

"It sends out a clear message that cruelty to animals will not go unpunished. Insp Sadayan and Insp Moloi secured this successful conviction. Both of them worked long and hard to get justice for Roxy, the dog who was rescued from the home in Chatsworth," she said. When Roxy was seized by the inspectors, she was in a terrible condition. It took veterinary treatment, plenty of good food and lots of loving care to bring her to good health. "Eventually, Roxy recovered sufficiently to be offered for adoption, and went home with a lovely new family in October, last year. A strong conviction like this is an excellent sign of what we hope will be harsher punishment for animal abusers in the future. It is incredibly encouraging to see this case taken so seriously by the courts.

Happy stories like this are a heart-warming reminder of why we do this work," concluded Conner.

Residents being addressed at the meeting.

Land invasion meeting held in Shallcross

More than 200 people attended a meeting on Klaarwater Road, last Wednesday. The meeting focused on land invasion and other important matters affecting residents in the vicinity. Residents were urged to be exercise extra caution and to be vigilant at all times. The issue of properties losing its value due to land invasion was also highlighted during the meeting. Concerned Shallcross resident, Lynn Mandry stated that although this was their first meeting, it was a tremendous success. "Everything that needed to be discussed was on par. However, we did not reach a conclusion about what we should do if our land is invaded. I do feel that if we stand together as a community and be vigilant at all times, we can tackle the ongoing problem of land invasion," she said. The relevant role-players thanked all residents who took time off their schedules to attend the meeting.

Members of the public are urged to contact the eThekweni Municipality's Land invasion Unit on 031 311-4699.

Female engineer defies the odds

A young and aspiring female electronic engineering student is breaking sexual prejudice in the field of engineering. Former Croftdene resident, Shiveshni Pillay (23) aims to encourage women to propel themselves forward into a largely male dominated field. The organisation that Pillay belongs to is called WomEng and it is a social enterprise that wants to cultivate the next generation of female engineers and leaders in society. The programme to date has reached far over 14, 000 aspiring female engineers in and around South Africa.

When asked about how the programme is fulfilling to her, Pillay said, "Being a part of this organisation makes me feel like I can make a difference in the world, especially knowing that other women look up to you as their role model or as their inspiration is a feeling that I cannot explain. The organisation is very close to my heart because it helped me become the confident woman that I am today." With the aim of encouraging women to pursue careers in the engineering field, Pillay and the team from WomEng will be hosting a free workshop on April 22 for grade nine-12 high school girls, from 8:30am to 12:30pm at the UKZN Howard College campus, science block S8. Pupils from all schools are encouraged to attend. Those interested can RSVP by sending an SMS to 079-741-0713 with their name, school and grade.

Young chef served with a plate of success

After witnessing the magical splendour created while his cousin plated up mouth-watering dishes, young Sohail Kudoos immediately developed an immense and deep-rooted love for the culinary world. The young lad took his passion to the next level when he was appointed as a sous chef at the Villa Vittoria Lodge and Conference Facilities, situated in Johannesburg, recently. The Montford born resident explained his love for the gastronomy industry. "Although working for a well-established restaurant is not easy, cooking to me is truly an art form. Working in the kitchen is tiring and very stressful, but I am extremely passionate about food and I love and appreciate every moment I spend with it," said 20-year-old Kudoos.

The passionate lad's favourite dish to prepare is a tantalising plate of rosemary infused T-bone steak served on a bed of sautéed vegetables and garlic buttered potatoes.

Since a young age, the former Meadowlands Secondary pupil would cook up a storm after school and was thrilled after he lived out his dream of preparing gourmet cuisine at the Durban July and at the Durban Country Club, last year. The talented youngster fondly recalls his favourite childhood dish. He said, "Growing up, my favourite food was chicken-ala-king. Eating the meal together with my family is one of my fondest memories". He hopes to enter cooking competitions and open up his own restaurant where he can prepare palate pleasing English dishes. In his spare time, Kudoos enjoys playing sport and spending time with his family and friends. He also advises the home enthusiast to always be passionate about the food which they prepare and strive for excellence in every meal that they plate up.

Sohail Kudoos is an inspiration to his community.

Durban Festival of Chariots adds colour to city

Thousands of residents from across the country gathered to witness the streets of Durban come alive with a splash of colour, lively music and dance as the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) hosted their 29th annual Durban Festival of Chariots, over the Easter weekend at the Old Durban Drive Inn.

The free event that perfectly showcased the spirit of KZN, catering for Durbanites and visitors over Easter and offered diverse activities that suited different tastes.

The event, also known as Ratha Yatra Festival, was born 28 years ago under the guidance of one of ISKCON'S leaders Indradyumna Swami. Being an ancient Vedic festival celebrated around the world, Durban first hosted the festival in the amphitheatre at the beachfront over the Christmas season. The festival has now grown to a four-day event attracting over 200 000 people at the Old Durban Drive Inn and is billed as the biggest Festival of Chariots outside of India.

This year, ISKCON planned the best festival yet. There were three beautifully decorated chariots, each of 15 metres high pulled along the streets of Durban on Friday, March 14 and again in the evening of Monday, March 17. The much-loved children's theme park called Blue Mountain Children Village delighted both the parents and children. ISKCON proudly hosted entertaining and educational activities for the children which also provided a strong moral centre.

The cultural stage show included both international and local stars. Canadian-born theatre producer, Bhakti Marg Swami, engaged with a local cast to produce two high quality dramas. The Health, Wellness and Lifestyle tent which is always a hit, promoted wellness through the body, mind and soul through the process of healthy eating, yoga and meditation. Youth were invited to the Bhakti Cloud arena, which focused on youth matters via panel discussions, interviews, poetry and interactive sessions.

A questions and answers tent was also available, which hosted esteemed spiritual leaders who discussed topical issues based on the Vedic texts. His holiness Lokanath Swami from India gave daily talks on the Bhagavat Katha (pastimes of Lord Krishna) and Shubha Vilas dasa who is the author of a series of books based on the Ramayan delivered a seminar on the pastimes of Lord Ramachandra.

Shoppers were thrilled to view a range of designer fashion garments, accessories and spiritual paraphernalia at the gift shop. A food court of vegetarian food tantalised the various palates and in true, ISKCON style there were sumptuous, hot free vegetarian meals cooked on wood-fire served throughout the day.

SAPS urges residents to take care of their pets

Following serious pet neglect cases which have occurred, Malvern SAPS corporate communications officer, W/O Radhika Marimuthu issued the following safety hints for pet owners. "Pet owners should have the best interests of their pets at heart and ensure that their pets enjoy a comfortable sense of living. The sole function of dogs are not only our gate keepers but are part of the family, hence a duty of care should prevail. Pet neglect and intentional harm to animals is a criminal offence and residents will be prosecuted should they be found guilty," explained W/O Marimuthu.

- If you are going away for the holidays and have pets, get a house sitter who loves pets and with traceable references to ensure that your pets are fed and taken care of.
- Do not leave your pets unattended and without shelter, food or water while you are out.
- There are options of kennels who keep pets while their owners are away.
- Ensure that your property is well secured in order that your pets do not stray out as they can be stolen or run over by vehicles.
- Have collars with identification. A microchip is more prudent where your pet can be traced.
- Do not chain or tie dogs. Heat is unbearable and this can cause severe dehydration and heat stroke for animals.
- Animals are sensitive to fireworks and loud bangs so avoid these.
- While you may be tempted to feed your dogs festive snacks, avoid feeding of chocolates. Chocolate contains substances known as methylxanthines (specifically caffeine and theobromine), which dogs are far more sensitive to than people. Different types of chocolate contain varying amounts of methylxanthines. In general, though, the darker and more bitter the chocolate, the greater the danger to your pet.

- Some forms of poultry, especially turkey are not compatible with some breeds of dogs.

Residents of the Ethelbert Village and Retirement Centre are seen with W/O Radhika Marimuthu.

Seniors warned of preying criminals

Salient safety hints were provided to residents from the Ethelbert Village and Retirement Centre in Malvern by Malvern SAPS communications officer, W/O Radhika Marimuthu, recently. "Personal banking safety hints and being neighbour friendly were discussed. They were also taught about the importance of the buddy system and the relevance of informing their neighbour or friend where they are going to. I also explained to the elderly why it is important to practice safe banking and not to obtain the help of strangers at ATMs and banking halls. Numbers on speed dial and remote panic buttons easily accessible or pinned on to clothing was also discussed," she added.

Convicted drug smuggler shares her testimony at mass gathering

Convicted drug smuggler and former Miss SA semi-finalist, Vanessa Goosen, who was arrested for couriering drugs from Thailand to South Africa, shared her testimony to a large gathering of Christians, who attended the Jesus for Africa Crusade at the Chatsworth Circus Site, recently.

Goosen still claims that she was wrongfully arrested and convicted. However, a Thailand court found her guilty of contravening the law and she was sentenced to 16 years, six months and 16 days in prison.

Born in Port Elizabeth, Goosen was raised in the province of Gauteng, where she lived the dream every young woman aspired to be.

Twenty-one-years-old and pregnant, the iconic model was handed down a lifetime imprisonment after the allegations of drug trafficking were levelled against her.

Goosen claims she was duped into carrying four engineering books containing 1,7kgs of heroin in the front and back compartments of the hard-cover books.

"A friend of mine asked me to bring back engineering books he required from his brother who resided in Thailand, and so I did.

Temple embarks on membership drive

The Shree Emperumal Temple, formerly known as the Railway Barracks Temple of 10 Woodhurst Avenue, Road 522, Croftdene embarked on a membership drive, recently.

The drive was for the renewal of existing members, for new members and the renewal of existing members. An open invitation has been extended to Railway Barracks descendants, existing members, devotees, donors and members of the public to apply for membership. Interested members are advised to contact the temple for membership forms. For more information, call 031 403-5885 or acting vice chairman on 073-975-4119.

During the spot check at the airport, I was searched and that is when I realised I was framed with heroin," she said.

Muddled and agitated, she was unable to communicate in Thai and had no control over the situation. "I tried to tell the policemen that I was pregnant but they did not believe me," she added.

Goosen was taken to Lard Yao Women Correction Institution. A few months later, she was forced to deliver her daughter in the prison hospital where she was not supplied with the basic necessities of a normal delivery.

"According to the laws of the Thailand prison, I was only allowed to keep my daughter, Felicia Goosen, now 22, until she was three and then she had to be released in the care of a guardian. I got in contact with my friend, Melanie Holmes who accepted my child with open arms," said Goosen.

"Letting go of my little girl was the most difficult challenge I had to overcome," she added. During her imprisonment, the semi-finalist who was slowly falling into depression lost her grandfather, sister and her best friend, Melanie who died three months before her release.

Serving her never-ending time in prison, she began growing closer to God and reading the Holy Bible which gave her the strength and courage to overcome the many challenges she encountered in prison.

In 2010, Goosen was released and returned home. Her daughter waited on the other side of the terminal doors impatiently for her arrival.

At the age of 43, she released her story to the public 'Drug Muled, Sixteen Years in a Thai Prison'. The book was composed by Joanne Joseph and Larissa Focke entailing a detailed story of Goosen's life in prison. Goosen added that, "Through everything I encountered, I never gave up, I held on and believed that God would bring me through this."

Goosen wants to give back to society through her experiences and stand as a pillar of hope to broken hearts. "I want to give hope to people through my testimony."

Felicia Goosen together with her mother, Vanessa Goosen.

Local protesters support 'Anti-Zuma' campaign

I refer to the article in the Chatsworth Rising Sun headlined, 'Chatsworth residents support 'Anti-Zuma' march.' In response, I firstly thank the newspaper for giving extensive coverage to the march. Saying I am disappointed will be an understatement. To me, this is a low point and a shame to our people, who showed no support to the march. It is so sad that residents of Chatsworth, which has the largest concentration of Indians, made no effort to save the future of our children and grandchildren. For a mere 200 people out of a population of over 300,000 to show support calling for the controversial and embattled Jacob Zuma to step down from his position, is a shame. We, as a country, were relegated to junk status as a result of reckless irresponsible actions. Junk status has major ramifications for most of us who are already fighting poverty, unemployment and inflation. The question is, how much more can the poor ensure? It is time to save our country from collapse. We need a president who will listen to the masses. People need to rise and demonstrate. We must all accept the blame. When we are needed in the streets, most of us will stay indoors. Let us take heed of the great Valliamma Munuswami Mudaliar who was the first child martyr of the freedom struggle who had the courage to cross into Transvaal in defiance of the laws which restricted our movements. Well done to the 200 people who supported the march and lets unite and show solidarity in the campaign for #ZumaMustFall. To all residents who participated in the march, remember 'The unblemished truly live and the renowned merely exist.' You will not be forgotten.

Residents are demolishing the ideals of a democratic South Africa

South Africa's transition from an apartheid era to a democratic country was supposed to remove all the ideals of the apartheid regime and better the lives of citizens. Unfortunately, I strongly believe that we are still facing challenges, which have been carried over to our new democratic order that was established in 1994. I am very disappointed about the continuous strikes and shut downs that are taking place. Residents need to stop demolishing properties and start communicating with community leaders to act as a voice on their behalf. Our country has already gone through the struggle and battle for peace. We do not deserve to watch it happen all over again with a new government. Political parties together with citizens of South Africa need to start working together instead of attacking each other.

The Ridge@Shallcross is looking for the next Miss Ridge Teen

It's once again that time when the Ridge@Shallcross opens its entries to the much anticipated Miss Ridge Teen Competition for 2017. Over the years, the management and staff of the Ridge have seen continued growth in their annual competition, not only in the calibre of young women within the community stepping forward to take up this fantastic opportunity, but also in the prizes that are provided to the winners. The main objective of the Miss Ridge Teen competition is to identify and build young leaders within the community. The winners will not only walk away with their share of R40,000 in prizes but Miss Ridge Teen 2017 will be the new face of The Ridge@Shallcross, representing the centre at key events and community initiatives. Entries open from Tuesday, April 18 until Saturday, May 20 to young women within the Shallcross and Chatsworth communities. Participants will need to be in grades 10 or 11 and between the ages of 16 and 17. Do you have a passion for community involvement, an excellent academic record, coupled with a bubbly personality and enjoy working with people? If this is you, then you may just be the next Miss Ridge Teen. To enter, contact pageant director, Julie Soorajpal on 031 409-6654/ 70 or you can enter online by visiting www.TheRidgeMall.co.za. The competition terms and conditions are also available on the website. Good luck to all contestants and enjoy the journey ahead.

The talented artists are extending a warm invite to members of the public to come through and have a look at the amazing work.

A 'pop' of colour and splendour at art gallery

Fantastic art work, great company and delicious food and drinks set the tone at a glitzy cocktail evening, which was once again hosted by the vibrant and bubbly team at the Art on Kingsway Pop-Up Gallery, recently. Since the inception of the trendy and colourful pop-up gallery at the Caltex Toti Oasis, two months ago, artists are delighted that their work is receiving the appreciation and recognition that it rightfully deserves and are still extending a warm invite to residents to Durbanites to drop by for a visit and view some of the amazing pieces. The gallery was launched by the Upper South Coast Art Association as the dedicated members believe that art speaks where words are unable to explain. Speaking to many of the artists at the event, they said that having a pop-up gallery was very much needed in the area. "Art enables us to find ourselves and lose ourselves at the same time and we are so happy to know that the launch of the gallery was a tremendous success. We love mingling with residents and encourage them to come through and experience the beauty of our paintings," they said in unison. According to the artists, a free drawing session takes place on the third Saturday of each month from 9am to 11:30am as well. "These sessions are held at the Activities Centre of the Toti Library and here, we are able to share our love for art with the community. Everyone has their own sense of creativity and we want residents to understand this. Every piece of art has a different message and it is important to know that without art, the world would just be colourless," the artists added. As one enters the gallery, they will be able to view a variety of paintings which certainly speaks volumes of the talent that is hidden within Durban. All guests who attended the cocktail evening agreed that artists are going beyond the call of duty in raising art awareness in Durban. An exciting raffle was also part of the formalities for the evening and thereafter, residents had the opportunity to engage with each one of the artists. Residents are to take note that the gallery is opened from Monday to Friday from 9am to 4pm, Saturday from 9am to 2pm and Sunday from 10am to 2pm. For more information regarding the free drawing sessions or artists demonstrations, contact Patricia on 082-824-7900.

Residents urged to join Shallcross clean-up operations

The Shallcross Police Forum enhanced their stance in curbing crime by stepping up patrols and street watch groups, recently. The effort, which was made possible through the partnership of Cpt Msweli and his team from Chatsworth SAPS, input by volunteers within the suburb and a few security companies in the area (Pinetown Protection Services (PPS Security), Siyaya Security and Ananzi Security), who offer their services on an absolute pro bono basis, was also backed up by Cpt Kisten, Cpt Derek Chetty and senior management of the Chatsworth SAPS.

Interim PRO of the Shallcross Community Police Forum, Manoj Anandhaw said, "These volunteers, amid their careers and family lives, sacrifice their time until the early hours of the mornings on a daily basis to ensure that criminals are held at bay and are driven out of Shallcross. All relevant role-players have a common goal to restore Shallcross to the safe haven that it once was. The buy-in from the general public is poor and it is only a handful of volunteers on the road nightly keeping the rest of the community safe. Most residents are unaware and believe that crime will not affect them. They do not realise the effort and danger that the handful of volunteers who are exposed to, while they sleep peacefully."

One of the volunteers, Devan Govender, partnered with a group of people from the Mission For Christ (MFC) Rehabilitation Center in Harinagar, and William Buthelezi and his team from Queensburgh Parks and Gardens, to clean-up the bushy areas in Shallcross where criminals are suspected to be hiding.

Both teams (Buthelezi and the rehab volunteers) did an exceptional job in the initial phase of 'Operation Clean-up Shallcross' last Saturday.

"We urge all residents to come on board so we can operate a rotational shift and taking pressure off the current group of men, women and families who are devout in the clean up and crime combating operations. Any positive influence and contribution will be welcomed no matter how small. Residents must bear in mind that crime has no barriers. It can happen to anyone when least expected," he added.

Residents interested in the operations can call 083-495-1611 or email shallcrosscrimeforum@yahoo.com

The clean-up operation was welcomed by the Shallcross CPF.

Audi Sport launched in New York with limited-run R8

In celebration of its Sport sub-division's international launch, Audi has released a limited edition version of the R8 at the New York Auto Show, simply titled Sport Edition. Based on the V10 and flagship V10 plus, the Sport Edition comes finished in Audi Sport's silver, red and black colours, although a selection of other hues would also be offered. Setting the Sport Edition apart from the regular V10 further are 20-inch Y-spoke forged aluminium wheels, red mirror caps and side blades, titanium black grille, splitter and diffuser, red brake callipers and Audi Sport logos on the rim flanges. Inside, the interior gets red and black door cards, Audi Sport badged aluminium inserts, Nappa leather trimmed sport seats also finished black and red, Audi Sport illuminated door sills, special 1/200 plaque, contrasting dark silver stitching on the steering wheels, doors and seats, red 12 o'clock steering wheel marking, carbon inlays and R8 logo embossed on the headrests. Like the standard R8, the Sport Edition's normally aspirated 5.2-litre V10 is kept unchanged at 397 kW and 449 kW for the V10 plus, with a seven-speed S-tronic gearbox sending the grunt to all four wheels via Audi's trademark quattro all-wheel drive system. Limited to just 200 units with orders set to open next month. - Autodealer

Mazda2 gets new flagship petrol model

Easily one of its most popular models, Mazda has introduced a new flagship petrol model and subtle safety equipment revisions to its 2 range. As with the bigger Mazda3, the new

Individual Plus replaces the simply titled Individual as the new range topping Mazda2, with additions consisting of a shark-fin antenna, satellite navigation, folding electric mirrors, leather seats, Heads-Up

Display, side and curtain airbags, reverse camera with parking sensors and Lane Departure Warning. While retaining the Individual's 82 kW / 145 Nm 1.5-litre SKYACTIV-G petrol engine, the Plus comes fitted as standard with a six-speed automatic gearbox, while consuming unleaded at a rate of 5.7 L/100 km with emissions pegged at 134 g/km. At the top of the range, the diesel engine automatic-only Hazumi benefits from Blind Spot Monitoring and Dynamic Stability, with power from the 1.5-litre SKYACTIV-D engine also remaining unchanged at 77 kW and 250 Nm. A three year / unlimited km warranty and service plan over a similar length are standard across the range.

BAIC enters South Africa with new D20

Having announced an investment of R11-billion last year to produce vehicles at the Coega Industrial Development Zone outside Port Elizabeth from 2018, Chinese state-owned automaker, Beijing Automobile International Corporation (BAIC), has launched its foray into the local market with the new D20 sedan and hatchback.

Marketed under the Senova name in China, the D20 draws similarities with the first generation Mercedes-Benz B-class externally, no doubt thanks to its partnership with the three-pointed star, and, according to BAIC, rides on the same platform as the Smart ForFour.

Initially, the D20 range will consist of five models with a choice of two trim levels, two petrol engines and either a five-speed manual or four-speed automatic gearbox.

Starting the line-up off, the hatch only Comfort can be had with a 1.3-litre mill developing 75 kW and 128 Nm of torque, or a bigger 1.5 with 85 kW and 148 Nm. Mated to the manual gearbox only, standard equipment includes dual front airbags, rain sense wipers on the 1.5, auto-on headlights, electric windows, rear parking sensors, leather trimmed steering wheel and ABS with EBD.

At the top of the range, the bigger engine Fashion offers a choice between hatch or sedan bodystyles, although the latter comes fitted with the self-shifter as standard. Building on the Comfort's equipment levels, the Fashion adds a six-speaker sound system, 6.5-inch touchscreen display with satellite navigation and USB, sunroof, climate control, heated and folding mirrors and daytime-running lights.

A five year / 120 000 km warranty is standard on all models with a service plan optional.

Newest Jaguar F-Type packs a 220 kW blown-four

Jaguar has expanded its F-Type range with the inclusion of a smaller four-cylinder model set to retail from £49 995 (R860 695) in its home markets.

Essentially the same 2.0-litre turbocharged Ingenium unit used in the XE and XF albeit revised, the blown four-pot churns out 220 kW and 400 Nm of torque, with drive going to the rear wheels via the familiar ZF-sourced eight-speed automatic gearbox.

Weighing some 52 kg less than the 250 kW supercharged V6 version, Jaguar claims the new 2.0-litre F-Type will reach 100 km/h from standstill in 5.7 seconds, and top out at 250 km/h. Despite the downsized engine, the Indian-owned British marque has stated that a revised exhaust would curb fears of the F-Type losing its signature sound, adding that both the steering and suspension have been updated to suit the new engine. Jaguar Land Rover South Africa has yet to confirm if the 2.0-litre F-Type will be allocated for South Africa. -Autodealer

New Mini Countryman lands in South Africa

Sean Nurse

Since the BMW-owned Mini era, which now spans close to two decades, we've seen the British premium small car maker experiment with variants of its original formula, which was of course a small, three-door hatchback.

Today though, Mini offers a range of three and five-door models, a convertible, a larger station wagon-type Clubman variant and even, a small SUV, the Countryman, which is now in its second generation. I travelled down to KwaZulu-Natal to sample this latest Mini creation.

Not so Mini

The Countryman is the largest Mini within the range as consumers continue to demand SUVs and crossovers, which ironically makes the Countryman the most relevant Mini within the ever-expanding range.

The Countryman shares its UKL2 platform with the BMW X1 and is some 200mm longer and 30mm wider than the previous generation. That means, in terms of dimensions, it's larger than the likes of the Mazda CX-3 and aimed squarely at rivals such as the Audi Q2 and upcoming Volvo XC40.

Familiarity

For those acquainted with the current crop of Mini derivatives, there aren't any surprises in the engine department, yet at least. Powering the Cooper Countryman is the familiar three-pot 100kW/220Nm 1.5-litre mill which is available with a six-speed manual or six-speed Steptronic transmission.

The current top-of-the-range Countryman Cooper S gets the same 2.0-litre four-cylinder motor as the rest of the Mini range, with an output of 141kW/280Nm and the option of a six-speed manual or an eight-speed automatic gearbox.

All models will be front-wheel drive-only as the All4 four-wheel drive model offered previously didn't sell as well as the brand might have hoped for. Having driven both derivatives equipped with the automatic transmissions, I have to concede that if you're after a Countryman, the Cooper will suffice.

It is no longer as frustratingly lethargic as the previous generation was, while the Cooper S does little to excite on the performance front. However, for those not too interested in these middle-of-the-road models, there is hope as a 2.0-litre 110kW/330Nm diesel Cooper will be added to the range later this year, while the rather potent John Cooper Works version equipped with the All4 system is also on its way.

Premium inside and out

For those shopping within the small premium SUV segment, the Countryman will likely satiate the ever-growing need to be different with its chunky soft-roader looks and more practical dimensions.

From an exterior profile, the big Mini strikes a unique crossover silhouette while up front, there are the obligatory round headlamps and at the rear, the traditional squared-off tail lamps. There are also lashings of chrome and brushed metal surfaces to remind the owner that this is a Mini for a buyer with a more active lifestyle.

The interior is typical Mini with a large, circular infotainment screen dominating the cockpit, while the usual customisation options meant that at launch, all eight cars available were different in terms of their exterior treatment and interior colour combinations. All of the varying surfaces and materials used throughout the cabin creates a space that is unique, as only Mini seem able to do.

I am certain that this retro-modern theme used inside the Countryman will either be a hit or miss affair, much like the rest of the range. However, for the Mini faithful, it will certainly be seen as a resounding success as it appears to be like a regular Mini, but with space for five occupants and a rather large 450-litre boot.

Watch those options

As with many vehicles these days, the Countryman has quite an extensive optional extras list, which can inflate the price tag quickly. It is not to say that the Countryman range is badly specified as standard, however, buyers looking to customise their car may find themselves paying thousands over the list price with a few desirable options ticked. Verdict

The new generation Mini Countryman is a massive improvement over the car that it replaces in terms of quality, refinement, performance and practicality. It presents something unique within the premium crossover segment and can compete with key rivals in the areas that count. Just be wary of the specification as the price can creep up dramatically.

Mr SA breaks stereotypes

Mr South Africa 2017, Habib Noorbhai, along with CANSA, teamed up to raise funds for cancer patients at the Gateway Shopping Centre, this weekend. Part of the proceeds will go towards CANSA and the other half will go to The Humanitarian, a non-profit organisation, founded by Noorbhai in 2013. He is currently part of the Driving 4 Cancer roadshow that sees him driving 5000km from town to town to raise awareness on the disease. The campaign kicked off in Mossel Bay on April 3 and will come to an end on April 17. The aim of the project is to not only raise funds but to also create cancer awareness among communities.

Current Mr South Africa, Habib Noorbhai.

Habib has broken barriers as he is the first Muslim Mr South Africa of Cape Town. "I did not have to take my shirt off to win the contest due to my religion requiring me to dress appropriately. My character stood out more than my physical attributes," he said. Not only a handsome face with a huge heart, Habib is an academic by day and a humanitarian by night. It was his humanitarian conscience that drove him to enter the contest and take on the initiative, Driving 4 Cancer. Habib said that he initially thought it was a pageant but soon realised it was a platform to inspire change. "The pageant served as a spring board to influence change on a larger scale. I also started a campaign called '365 days of heart' which motivates people to help others by doing random acts of kindness. I want to encourage people to be a part of my campaigns and those that wish to make a difference can follow me on social media or contact me on the Mr South Africa website to get further information on how to join," he said. For donations towards the drive you can contact Habib on directly on habib@mrsa.co.za, or via Twitter @Habib_Noorbhai or through his website www.habibnoorbhai.com. You can also deposit into the following account, The Humanitarians, ABSA, Savings Acc No: 9296550533, Branch code: 632005

The winners proudly display their trophies.

Club 91 hosts successful golf tournament

Club 91, which is a retired group of teachers and associate members, held a successful tournament at the Papwa Sewgolom Golf Course, recently.

Members of the club extended their thanks to Poobie Naidoo from the Modern Service Station for his kind sponsorship and Anthony Patrick for the trophies. Vincent Pillay won third position while Devan Govender was placed second. The overall winner of the tournament was Anthony Patrick.

Don't be the poster girl for chronic thrush

Get long-term relief with Kolorex Advanced Care

Kolorex is an antifungal complementary medicine containing active Horopito which assists in the treatment of systemic fungal infections. Overgrowth of Candida (yeast) can cause fungal infections of the skin, genitals, throat and mouth. Fungal infections may be present as a skin irritation or a rash in the mouth and throat or vaginal thrush. Kolorex Softgel capsules contain an effective anti-fungal solution that kills candida from the inside from day one. It is recommended that you take a full course of treatment, one capsule a day for 30 days, to help reduce the risk of yeast infections coming back. When thrush keeps coming back, a long term solution is necessary. Get long term relief from Candida with Kolorex Advanced Care. It is on promotion at Chatscare Pharmacy and Pelican Pharmacy. It is also available at Sparkport Chatsworth, Clicks Chatsworth, Queensburgh Pharmacy and Clicks Malvern.

Speak your mind

By Dr Guru Kistnasamy

Priests should preach against corruption and social injustice

Corruption, bribery, theft and lies by politicians are sinful acts. Why are there only a handful of priests who speak out against these sins and other forms of social injustice in this country? One can perhaps understand that during apartheid, these priests may have feared the special branch of the police, but in democracy, they are still silent.

Leaders of churches, mosques and temples have an obligation to condemn corruption in government. They should not be afraid or assume that they don't have the ability to do so. Even the layman is marching to end corruption.

The Western Cape Religious Leaders Forum was formed as a platform to share theological reflections from different faiths perspectives. It was said there that religious leaders play an important role in organising civil society and have an ability to be a force for progress in South Africa.

Hennie van Vuuren, a corruption expert, said that religious leaders across South Africa needed to demonstrate renewed willingness to work with civil society to engage meaningfully to curb corruption.

Sister Pratiba Daya of the Brahma Kumaris

said that one of the sources of corruption is the obsession with relative material gain.

She contends that when society becomes more fulfilled spiritually, the material hunger will end, and this will curb the tendency towards corruption. Thus faith and spiritual organisations have a fundamental role to play in helping people to find deeper meaning and fulfilment.

The religious leaders in the Western Cape urged citizens to stop being complacent, to stand up for their rights and to hold government and business accountable. Archbishop Makgoba said, "We can change the way our country works. If we are not part of the solution, then the likelihood is that we are part of the problem because to do nothing is to allow corruption to continue."

Imam Rashied Omar declared that we are in danger of losing our humanity. It is time for all of civil society to reclaim our honour and integrity as a society. If you are a religious leader, preach against corruption in government. If you are a member of the church, temple or mosque, advocate for sermons against social injustice in our country.

Temple to embark on building project

Devotees and officials of the Sri Arunachalam Alayam, formerly situated Road 238, Bayview, are appealing to the community for funds to embark on a building project to expand their premises in order to make the temple more accessible for prayer and cultural events. The humble origins of the temple dates back almost 60 years ago when it was established by Dhanum Govender. The support from the community grew and the alayam was later relocated to Haven-side 12 years ago. It was housed in a garage on the property. The treasurer of the organisation and grandson of the founder of the temple, Dereshen Moodley stated that all major prayers which began in Bayview still continued in Havenside such as Maha Sivarathri, the Amman Prayer and Raam Bhajan. "We have now secured a permanent property in Montford and we very excited," he said. Members of the temple require funds to start of the building venture and therefore they are embarking on several fundraising drives. "The temple is already hosting a dinner and dance event in June, to kick off the initiative. We appeal to residents to assist us in any way. Any sponsorship towards the temple construction or dinner and dance will be greatly appreciated. The sponsorship of milk towards the Shivarathri Prayer every year was most welcomed and greatly appreciated and we thank residents greatly for that contribution. It is always remembered," added Moodley. For more information, contact the chairman, Andre Naidoo on 078-518-5543 or Dereshen Moodley on 072-0490-6954.

Former MF councillor, Prakash Dasarath and Cllr Jonathan Annipen outside the hospital.

MF councillor pleased with security measures at local hospital

MF councillor, Jonathan Annipen visited the RK Khan Hospital in Chatsworth, recently. In discussions with senior members of the hospital's management team, it was learnt that the hospital is running smoothly, although it experiences some challenges. Speaking about the interactive meeting, Cllr Annipen said, "The hospital has a bed count of 543 and often reaches its maximum capacity because it services a wide community as well as offers facilities such as orthopaedics, surgery and paediatrics. Budgetary constraints within the Department of Health are a national phenomenon, which is obviously above the control of the hospital board and its management." Cllr Annipen added that he was pleased when he arrived at the hospital to find strict access control and security measures in place. "I was intrigued to find out that the hospital sees some 1200 odd patients daily and MOPD staff generally work beyond working time without pay to ensure that patients receive necessity treatment without delays and are managed timeously. The community must be aware of national practices, such as referral patterns and first visit their local clinics which will then refer the necessary cases to the hospital," he explained. RK Khan Hospital also has a Gateway Clinic that functions daily between 8am and 4pm to assist with the patient control. "Overall, I am very content with the functioning of the hospital and encourage the community to make use of complaint mechanisms which are at place at the hospital to address uncertainties which they may have, and I am confident that these will be addressed with the attention it deserves," he concluded.

Hollywoodbets Pelican supports local football club

Hollywoodbets Pelican proudly sponsored full soccer kits to the Summerfield Dynamos Football Club, which consists of about 200 players, recently. Club PRO, James Soobramoney, is grateful for the company's support. "This is a welcome token of appreciation to the winning premier league team, who were runners up for the 2016 season. Playing in the new stripes of Hollywoodbets will be a great reason to win future games and to fight to be promoted," he said.

Community members, together with various organisations, who were present at the event.

Community raises awareness on road safety

The Fire Department, Chatsworth SAPS, members of Pro Security and emergency services together with the People's Church of God, held a mass placard demonstration along Higginson Highway, recently. Concerned members of the Chatsworth community participated in the annual event, which aimed to create awareness on road safety and also prevent road carnage over the Easter weekend. The church is under well-known community leader, Dr Cyril Pillay who has been part of the initiative for the past 20 years. The event also serves as a plea for motorists to consider other drivers and pedestrians during the festivities. Youth director for People's Church of God, Collin Kisten said, "People come together every year with a common goal, which is to reduce accident rates and increase safe driving." The organisation is thankful to each community member and organisation who attended the event.

Bayview teen swims his way to success

Visiting the local swimming pool on a daily basis during summer school holidays helped a Bayview youngster discover his love for swimming when he was only 11-years-old.

Today, 16-year-old Dredin Murugan impresses his family and friends with his smooth swimming technique and encourages youth to become involved in this amazing sport.

The grade 10 pupil at Glenwood Boys High said that after discovering his love for swimming, he soon joined the Bayview Swimming Club and began competing against swimmers of his age group.

"I continued competing against various clubs within the area when my family started to encourage me to move to the next level. My parents, family and friends have helped me achieve everything that I have today and without their support, this dream would not have become a reality," he said.

The breast stroke swimmer said that by the age of 14-years-old, his coach and mentor offered him a spot to compete in the Midmar Mile. "I was ecstatic and accepted the competition," he added. With the support of his parents, Samantha Murugan and Stanton Murugan, Dredin scooped the first place trophy in almost all of his races. Community members surrounded the young achiever as he was one of the few teenagers who were excelling in the sport.

After his overwhelming performances, the talented youngster competed in Pietermaritzburg, Kimberly, Bloemfontein, and swam the Midmar Mile four times after his first try.

He participated at the level three regional competition in Sasolburg, recently. Dredin was ranked fourth in the one hundred and two hundred breast stroke swim.

Spokesman of the Bayview Swimming Club, Camari Reddy said, "Dredin has been a regular swimmer for the last five years at the club and we are very proud of him."

The striving swimmer said that he feels very blessed to be one of the very few people who are an inspiration to other teenagers. He strongly believes that the community is in need of more youth serving as an example to the younger generations to come.

Musicians rock the stage at Durban Playhouse

Local band, Track, together with special guests, Danny Harris and Lucille Cornelius presented a glowing 'Tribute to the Eagles' at the Durban Playhouse, last Saturday. The concert was a grand success and drew large crowds throughout the country. The musicians rocked the stage and enthralled huge audiences with their sterling covers of hits such as Take it to the Limit, Lyin Eyes, Take it Easy, Tequila Sunrise and the crowd pleasing, Hotel California among many others. The event also captivated audiences with a tribute to the late Glenn Frey. The band thanks the community for their support. A member of the audience said that he had never been to a local concert of this magnitude. "The performance was mind-blowing and I truly hope that there will be many more concerts of this grandeur to follow," he said.

Local evangelist to host international conference

The founder of Phillip Theophilus Ministries South Africa and evangelist, Phillips Theophilus, has embarked on an International Convention that will commence from Tuesday, April 18 to Thursday, April 20 that will take place in Durban, South Africa. Renowned pulpits and preaching personalities from around the Indian oceans will be the featured speakers throughout the three nights. Spokesman for the event, Jonathan Annipen, said "Evangelist Phillip is well known in South Africa and globally having travelled 44 nations. He has over the last 20 years, been actively involved in christian ministry while operating a very successful events co-ordination business. He is regarded as one of the best in the field. Phillip is a man of excellence that is depicted in the Spirit with which he has conducted the preparation of these meetings. "There is a great expectation for supernatural happenings and I encourage people to bring the sick, oppressed and those who need a difference in their lives to attend these meetings. I am certain that something powerful will take place," he said.

Hundreds are expected to coverge each night to hear the proclamation of the good news and have an opportunity to be prayed for by both local preacher and those from abroad.

Seen is Ebrahim Suleman from Newlands with Rummaysa (three) and Sumaiyah (four) enjoying the bargains at Township Hyper in Umhlathuzana, Chatsworth.

The group can create a sense of community and lessen any feelings of isolation from the wider community that people who are affected by autism may feel.

Bulk stocks 'to clear' at Township Hyper

Township Hyper is purging their warehouse and they have scores of top brands of fishing tackle to clear, including Profishient Tidal Wave, Okuma Topaz, Shorebreak and Storm combos. Don't miss this month's basket clearance lines scattered around the shop with "below cost" terminal tackle including lures, hooks and traces. All stocks must go. Township Hyper in Umhlathuzana Township is a diverse retailer with wholesale prices direct to the public. Ground floor is fishing tackle (031 4018520), car accessories and outdoor products (031 4010295). Upstairs is windscreens and body panels (031 4016778). This week, they have wide range of Stingray seat covers and car mats on offer. Make your month-end long weekend special, with all the lifestyle products from Township Hyper. Like them on Facebook and win many prizes.

Support group for autism and ADHD to be launched

The Nelson Mandela Chatsworth Youth Centre will host the launch of a support group for autism and ADHA on Saturday, April 22, at 11am. The initiative is open to families and their children with autism and ADHD. The launch will highlight autism by sharing information and helpful tips for raising a child with autism and ADHD. The youth centre is teaming up with Action in Autism a support organisation for people with autism and their families with the aim of improving the quality of life for people with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD) and their caregivers. Their also aim to build partnerships between people with ASD, their families and the community by providing information, services, learning materials and conducting research. All families and children with autism and ADHD are invited to this important launch. The volunteers are also appealing to people to inform families who are not sure of their children's status with autism or ADHD to attend and learn more. Support groups can be a great resource for people with autism, for parents and other family members. It provides a friendly space and you get to meet people you can relate to. The group can create a sense of community and lessen any feelings of isolation from the wider community that people who are affected by autism may feel. The launch will be a short event and meals will be provided. For more information, contact Clive Pillay on 061-429-2574 or Thaira Khan on 061-988-1495 (a/h).

Only five days left for the Rising Sun Chatsworth Freedom Marathon

It's time to stretch your limbs and lace up your running shoes, as there are just five days left for the thrilling Rising Sun Chatsworth Freedom Marathon, hosted by the Chatsworth Athletic Club. The race will take place on Sunday, April 23 at 5:30am and runners can participate in either a 52km run, 21km run or a 10km walk/ run. Participants who take advantage of the Early Bird Entry by pre-entering their business, family and friends will spend R190 for the 52km ultra marathon, while the 21km will cost R90 and the 10km will cost R60. When the Early Bird Entry closes on Wednesday, April 19, the price of the entry tickets will increase to R220 for the 52km, R120 for the 21km and R80 for the 10km. Pre-entries can be done online at www.chatsworthathletic.co.za or at the Chatsworth Stadium on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 6:30pm to 8pm and on Saturday, April 22 from 10am to 4pm.

The temporary licence for unlicensed runners (participants who are non-members of an athletic club) for the 21km costs R25 and for the 10km costs R10. If residents are doing a bank transfer (EFT), they will need to fax proof of payment and the entry form to 086-65-13492 or scan and send through to On-line@eventtiming.co.za. The bank details are as follows: FNB, branch code: 223526, account name: Event-timing and account number: 62400353447. No cheques will be accepted. Race numbers can be collected on Saturday, April 22 from the Chatsworth Stadium or on race morning from 4am to 5:15am. For more information, contact Jay Moodley on 082-463-7816 or simply pop into the Rising Sun building and chat to Ishara or call her on 084-887-8695.

● Register at Chatsworth Athletic Club on Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursday from 6:30pm to 8pm and on Saturday, April 22 from 10am to 4pm at the Chatsworth Stadium office.
